PEACOCK-HARPER CULINARY HISTORY FRIENDS

Invite You to Lunch and

TANGLED PANTALOONS AND BLACK CAKE:

Food & Family
in Mid-19th Century
Southwest Virginia

As told through Nannie Figgat's Diary, Recipes, & Correspondence

presented by

Prof. Gail McMillan
Director, Digital Library & Archives,
Virginia Tech

Dr. Jean Robbins
R.D., Virginia Cooperative Extension
(retired)

Through diaries, letters, manuscript cookbooks, and more an extraordinary story unfolded. Share the lives of two seemingly ordinary women, Nannie Figgat and Martha Mary Godwin. Find out what life in antebellum Fincastle, Virginia, was like and how the Civil War impacted the families and the community. Learn how the women coped with hardships and without their men.

Please join us for lunch, an illustrated slice of history, and good company.

Roanoke Country Club
Friday, November 19, 2010, 11:30 a.m.

MENU
Squash Bisque
Randolph Chicken with Sauce
Corn Pudding and Green Peas with Mint
Sweet Potato Muffins
Tea or Coffee
Black Cake with Hard Sauce

Pre-registration required. Deadline: November 15. Cost: $24 (tax and gratuity included)
The Roanoke Country Club chef will prepare a menu based on dishes from the 1800s. A vegetarian option is available. Recipes are from Mary Randolph's 1824 The Virginia Housewife, many of which Nannie copied into her 1860 cookbook.

Cost: $24 (tax & gratuity included)

TANGLED PANTALOONS AND BLACK CAKE:
FOOD AND FAMILY IN MID-19th CENTURY SOUTHWEST VA
As told through Nannie Figgat's Diary, Recipes, and Correspondence

Nov. 19, 2010
Roanoke Country Club
3360 Country Club Drive NW (off Melrose Ave.)
540-345-1508

---

RESERVATION FORM
To register, use the form below.

---

Please indicate which menu choices you and your guest(s) prefer.

Name ___________________________ Menu Choice: Regular ___ Vegetarian ___

Guest ___________________________ Menu Choice: Regular ___ Vegetarian ___

Guest ___________________________ Menu Choice: Regular ___ Vegetarian ___

Mail checks ($24 per person) payable to “Peacock-Harper Culinary History Friends” to

Dr. JoAnn Emmel, Treasurer
Peacock-Harper Culinary History Friends
P.O. Box 11086
Blacksburg, VA 24062

The Peacock-Harper Culinary History Collection, available online and in Newman Library on the Virginia Tech campus was established in 1999. The Culinary History Collection brings to students and the public five centuries of historic information about the domestic sciences, including customs, eating behaviors, food choices and habits, social and economic history, and scientific and technological progress. To find Nannie Figgat and Martha Godwin’s recipes and much more information, go to http://spec.lib.vt.edu/culinary

Pre-registration required. Deadline: November 15. Cost: $24 (tax and gratuity included)