<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Book Title</th>
<th>Author</th>
<th>Year</th>
<th>Pages</th>
<th>Price</th>
<th>ISBN</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Anya's Ghost</td>
<td>Vera Brosgol</td>
<td>2011</td>
<td>224</td>
<td>$15.99</td>
<td>978-1-59643-552-0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ashfall</td>
<td>Mike Mullen</td>
<td>2011</td>
<td>472</td>
<td>$16.95</td>
<td>978-1-933718-55-2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Calli</td>
<td>Jessica Lee Anderson</td>
<td>2011</td>
<td>184</td>
<td>$8.00</td>
<td>978-1-57131-699-8</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Chasing the Nightbird</td>
<td>Krista Russell</td>
<td>2011</td>
<td>197</td>
<td>$15.99</td>
<td>978-1-56145-597-3</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Anya is a typical teen girl who is embarrassed by her family, struggling with her body image, and attempting to fit in at school. When she falls down a well, she thinks that this actually isn’t the worst thing that has happened to her. At the bottom of the well, Anya finds a dead body and a new best friend—a ghost named Emily. At first Anya and Emily are close, but Anya realizes that some parts of the story Emily told about her death don’t add up. As Anya struggles to sort out fact from fiction, she must also figure out life in high school. Emily begins to play dangerous pranks and Anya must clean up the mess.

Brosgol’s debut graphic novel provides a quirky, sardonic, and whimsical view into adolescence and the struggle to both fit in and be different from everyone else. Anya is sarcastic, caring, and thoughtful.

---

Calli is just a normal 15-year-old girl. She has a popular boyfriend, a loyal best friend, and two of the greatest moms in the world. However, Calli’s world turns upside down when her moms decide that they want to foster a girl named Cherish. Calli’s new foster sister is nothing like Calli pictured or hoped for in a new family member. Cherish lies to Calli, steals her friends, kisses Calli’s boyfriend, and constantly blames all of her troubles on Calli. Time and again, Calli is left wondering how someone so horrible can get away with the things she does. When an act of revenge turns haywire, Calli isolates herself from her family and friends in an attempt to come to terms with her guilt.

This moving coming-of-age story portrays a world where the perils of adolescence can be rectified and mistakes can be undone, especially with the support of two loving and supporting mothers.

---

After the supervolcano at Yellowstone erupts, Alex finds himself plunged into an ash-covered world. Eager to find his family, who has gone on a family trip, Alex traverses 140 miles of dangerous terrain and meets people who have resorted to primitive ways of living in order to survive, including extreme acts of violence and utter hopelessness. Along the way, he meets Darla, another teenager who finds herself alone in this uninhabitable wasteland, and the two embark on an unforgettable journey.

As in Pfeffer’s Life as We Knew It, Mullen manages to create a believably devastated world in which there are few people to trust and even fewer resources. He deals with some of the more adult aspects of life many teenagers encounter, such as having sex and the embarrassment of relieving bodily waste in public. Readers who appreciate a little romance with their action adventure stories will enjoy Alex and Darla’s.

---

In 1851 New Bedford, Massachusetts, whaling ships came into port. A 14-year-old boy from Cape Verde, Lucky Valera, was preparing for his first real job as a sailor when he was shanghaied by Fernando Vergas, his half-brother. Fernando plans to keep Lucky working for him until Lucky comes of age, sending Lucky to work in one of the mills where the labor is dangerous and backbreaking. Lucky meets a Quaker girl who is an abolitionist and a fugitive slave. He thinks that her problems and concerns are not his, as he attempts his own escape, but in a daring finale, he realizes that slavery is his problem, too. He goes back to sea to help fugitive slaves escape. The ills of slavery, child labor, conditions in mills, and the whaling industry make this book ideal to launch discussions of social issues.

---

Melanie Hundley
Nashville, TN

Kim Coyle
Nashville, TN

Joy Frerichs
Chatsworth, GA

Jacqueline Bach
Baton Rouge, LA
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Author</th>
<th>Genre</th>
<th>Publisher</th>
<th>Pages/Price/ISBN</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Title</td>
<td>Author</td>
<td>Subcategory</td>
<td>Publisher</td>
<td>Year</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>--------------------</td>
<td>-------------------------</td>
<td>----------------------</td>
<td>-----------------</td>
<td>------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Horton Halfpott</td>
<td>Tom Angleberger</td>
<td>Fiction/Humor</td>
<td>Amulet Books</td>
<td>2011</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
| After M’Lady Luggertuck loosens her corset, unprecedented events and a desire to misbehave spread throughout Smugwick Manor. Horton Halfpott, one of the kitchen servants, however, is reluctant to disobey his superiors for fear of losing his job and his wages, which he hopes will one day pay for a doctor for his family. As precious items are stolen from the Luggertucks and preparations for an extravagant ball are being made, Horton must break the rules in order to help his friends, be with the girl he loves, and catch a truly loathsome thief. While the plot follows the traditional storyline of having a poor but noble hero win the heart of the most desired girl and foil treacherous schemes, Angleberger crafts his story with humor and unique characters in order to keep his audience entertained. Sarah Aronow
Nashville, TN |

|                   |                         |                      |                 |      |       |         |              |                           |            |
| Convinced that he is a boy born in a girl’s body, J has always felt different from everyone around him. As his body began to change, he hid the undeniable physical changes beneath his clothing. Now, on the eve of his eighteenth birthday, a betrayal by longtime friend Melissa prompts him to embark on a journey of self-discovery and empowerment. No longer will J hide—from his friends, his parents, and even himself. There’s a whole new world of possibilities outside his front door, even a school where he might find acceptance. J’s unhappiness, expressed through his photography, is palpable, and his journey of self-discovery and self-acceptance is inspiring. Navigating the often unfriendly New York neighborhoods, J embraces a hopeful but not easy future with difficult choices. This heartbreakingly honest book features complex characters, including parents whose acceptance is not certain. Back matter includes an Author’s Note and Resources. Barbara A. Ward
Pullman, WA |

|                   |                         |                      |                |      |       |         |              |                           |            |
| When teen Kyle Straker volunteers to be hypnotized during the town talent show, he awakens to a different world. Computers and cell phones no longer work, and a strange language streams across the television screens. Everyone around him seems somehow disturbingly different, and Kyle and the three others who were hypnotized must solve the puzzle. The story is told through a series of cassettes taped by Kyle during the beginning of what he realizes is a human upgrade that he and the others missed while under hypnosis. The author’s side notes explaining popular cultural references, such as “The Apprentice” and “Cracking Jokes,” add depth and humor to this compulsive page-turner. The Editor’s Notes pondering the significance of the gaps in Kyle’s tapes heighten reader interest and add to the book’s complexity. Readers will surely ponder the possible obsolete nature of humanity where even reading is an artifact of the past. Barbara A. Ward
Pullman, WA |

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Jane Austen: A Life Revealed</th>
<th>Catherine Reef</th>
<th>Biography/Romance</th>
<th>Clarion Books</th>
<th>2011</th>
<th>155</th>
<th>$18.99</th>
<th>978-0-547-37021-7</th>
<th>Katie Harris</th>
<th>Nashville, TN</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>
| Devoted Austen fans rejoice; a new biography by Catherine Reef pieces together the life of “gentle Aunt Jane.” Little is known of Austen’s life, and many of her letters are missing due to the efforts of family and friends to censor the way Jane would be remembered in history. Reef attempts to paint a fuller picture of Jane’s life within the context of Austen’s time and culture, allowing the reader to search for the connections between a single woman dubbed an “old maid” and the novels she became so famous for creating. This text contains fascinating primary accounts from Austen’s family members and acquaintances as well as family portraits, original letters, and cultural pieces from the time period. This biography will make the reader want to pick up his or her old copy of Pride and Prejudice once more and discover again why Austen continues to find devotees with each new century. Katie Harris
Nashville, TN |
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Author</th>
<th>ISBN</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Me, Myself, and Ike</td>
<td>K. L. Denman</td>
<td>978-1-55469-086-2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Okay for Now</td>
<td>Gary D. Schmidt</td>
<td>978-0-547-15260-8</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>My Favorite Band Does Not Exist</td>
<td>Robert Jeschonek</td>
<td>978-0-547-37027-9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Original Sin</td>
<td>Lisa Desrochers</td>
<td>978-0-7653-2809-0</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Me, Myself, and Ike

by K. L. Denman

Identity/Friendship

Orca Book Publishers, 2009, 192 pp., $12.95

Kit Latimer used to be happy. Now, Kit is a shell of himself, and he won't let his inner feelings out to anybody. He begins to plan his own demise; heroic and fitting, he plans to freeze himself as a human time capsule and be frozen with Kit. Kit needs to come to his senses before it's too late, but can he with Ike's questionable guidance?

K. L. Denman provides a look at mental illness through Kit. Her first-person retelling is reminiscent of Fight Club and provides a good story for children to read and get caught up in. Kit's story is one of scary perseverance, and his family's attempts to save him are wisely championed throughout. The story is compelling and offers an interesting take on what teenage mental illness looks like.

Okay for Now

by Gary D. Schmidt

Fiction/Family/Teen Life

Living in a home he has appropriately called "The Dump," Doug Swieteck is the new kid in town. Between his mother's death, a mother who won't change and people and places within his new town that he never knew existed, Doug begins a search that leads him to people and places within the town that he never knew existed.

Discovering the power of creativity, Doug begins a search that leads him to people and places within the town that he never knew existed. Gary D. Schmidt's second novel about Doug Swieteck will remind the reader why the transformative power of art will always triumph over despair.

My Favorite Band Does Not Exist

by Robert Jeschonek

Fantasy/ Romance / Identity

Idea Deity is going to die in chapter 64. Idea believes that he is a vital character in a book written by a belligerent angelic character and his friend, the belligerent demon Reacher. After the death of Idea, the angelic character asks the belligerent demon Reacher to make things worse. However, Doug's novel shows that people can make things better. In the second book of the Personal Demons series, the reader is in for a roller-coaster ride of suspense.

Original Sin

by Lisa Desrochers

Paranormal Romance/Fantasy/Relationships

TOR/A Tom Doherty Associates Book, 400 pp., $9.99

Frannie Cavanaugh has everything she has ever wanted; after all, her love has turned demon Luc into a mortal in love with her. Under his watchful eye and the care of her guardian angel brother Matt, she wants to have a normal life. However, the belligerent demon Reacher is not content with her new life and wants Frannie for reasons that are revealed late in the book. The demons he sends will stop at nothing to do her harm.

In the second book of the Personal Demons series, the battle of good and evil rages on with Frannie's soul hanging in the balance. Temptation surrounds Frannie, and it may be only a matter of time before she chooses the demon. The weaving of the three intricate plots makes the story a little difficult to follow at first. However, once the realities of the characters intertwine, the reader is in for a roller-coaster ride of suspense.
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Author</th>
<th>Genre</th>
<th>Publisher</th>
<th>Pages</th>
<th>Price</th>
<th>ISBN</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Perfected by Girls</td>
<td>Alfred C. Martino</td>
<td>Realistic Fiction/Self-discovery/siblings</td>
<td>Coles Street Publishing</td>
<td>316</td>
<td>$9.95</td>
<td>978-1-59316-600-7</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Melinda is the lone girl on a prestigious wrestling team in a Michigan high school. While Melinda is a wrestler, she is not a tomboy as she sports 4-inch leather heels and designer dresses to events around town. She loves wrestling with her teammates, and since the team captain is her older brother, she scores extra points with the team. However, she struggles with making weight, balancing friendships, and the hostility felt from outsiders for being a girl wrestler. Things seem to be looking up for Melinda, until she chats with a reporter about her wrestling coach.

In Martino’s third novel on wrestling, he focuses on an adolescent girl trying to bridge the divide between her dream of wrestling and what others think and expect from girls, including members of her family. He addresses the concerns of many girls: weight loss, boyfriends, friendships, family expectations, and older siblings. An enjoyable, quick read.

Emily Pendergrass
Athens, GA

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Author</th>
<th>Genre</th>
<th>Publisher</th>
<th>Pages</th>
<th>Price</th>
<th>ISBN</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Shelter</td>
<td>Harlan Coben</td>
<td>Action/Adventure/Mystery</td>
<td>G. P. Putnam’s Sons</td>
<td>304</td>
<td>$18.99</td>
<td>978-0-399-25650-9</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

This first YA book by the author is a riveting story of Mickey Bolitar who, besides dealing with his father’s death and his mother’s addiction, gets involved in a series of adventures. Mickey’s new girlfriend is missing. His search for her leads him into the darker side of life, involving unscrupulous men and white slavery. The quirky friends, his natural athletic prowess, along with his experiences growing up with his nomadic parents give Mickey an edge on facing foes.

Mickey is a white knight coming to save the day. A special symbol, a Nazi survivor, and the questionable death of Mickey’s father leave much material for sequels. The realism and action of the book make it a page-turner and one that boys especially will enjoy. This book is an extension of the author’s adult series about Myron Bolitar and is the first in a young adult series that should be most successful.

Joy Frerichs
Chatsworth, GA

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Author</th>
<th>Genre</th>
<th>Publisher</th>
<th>Pages</th>
<th>Price</th>
<th>ISBN</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>

The basketball is put into play in a series of stories from nine young adult authors interwoven with poems about the popular game. But this isn’t tournament play; rather, the focus is street ball as it is played on New York City’s West 4th Street Court. Each of the stories picks up where the one before it left off, linking the characters and the action seamlessly. Walter Dean Myers starts the game with his contribution describing Boo guarding an eerily silent white player, and the pace never flags. Just as basketball is played in different styles, the stories are written in unique fashions, revealing their authors’ personalities and offering brief vignettes of the games being played out, on and off the court. Rita Williams-Garcia even puts into the game the talented Dominique, a character from her earlier novel Jumped. An afterword and contributor comments make this one a slam dunk.

Barbara A. Ward
Pullman, WA

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Author</th>
<th>Genre</th>
<th>Publisher</th>
<th>Pages</th>
<th>Price</th>
<th>ISBN</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>

When his mother disappears during a camping trip to Acadia National Park, Jack Martel must rely on his own survival instincts, since he fears seeking help from the authorities. He believes his mother will be right back, and if worse comes to worst, there’s no way he can risk her being charged with abandonment, which is likely to happen if the authorities realize he’s on his own. While it hasn’t been easy, life with his mother is exciting, especially during her exuberant periods. But the ups are always followed by periods of malaise and depression, and Jack has learned to carefully hide his family’s secrets. After his food and money run out, he decides to make his way home to Boston.

Readers will root for him to arrive safely, helped along the way by the kindly strangers who befriended him. Especially poignant is his love for elephant-related trivia and totems.

Barbara A. Ward
Pullman, WA
The Cheshire Cheese Cat: A Dickens of a Tale

Intrigue/Historical Fiction/Relationships

by Carmen Agra Deedy & Randall Wright (Illus. Barry Moser)

In the nineteenth century, Skilly, an alley cat, carries a secret. He loves to eat cheese, not mice. Skilly contrives to steal cheese under the noses of hungry people, but he never leaves enough for his nemesis, Pinch, a ferocious alley cat, to move into the inn, mayhem breaks out. Even Queen Victoria makes an appearance.

The story is compelling, the wordplay charming, the vocabulary enriching, and the use of 19th-century English enlightening. This is a good book for English class. Barry Moser's illustrations seem to make the characters jump off the page. The reader now knows where Dickens received the ideas for his famous beginning to The Tale of Two Cities!

Joy Frerichs
Chatsworth, GA

The End of the Line

Social Issues/Identity/Guilt

"Ryan was dead, and I was a murderer," claims 13-year-old Robbie in his first-person account of his struggle at Great Oaks Academy. The End of the Line is a powerful and suspenseful tale that asks the reader to confront these questions: did Robbie mean to kill his friend Ryan or did he kill him by accident? What makes someone become a murderer? Robbie tells his tale of how he became incarcerated. Through flashbacks and his lists of identifying qualities, Robbie tells his story of how he became a murderer.

The End of the Line is a powerful and suspenseful tale that asks the reader to confront these questions: did Robbie mean to kill his friend Ryan or did he kill him by accident? What makes someone become a murderer? Robbie tells his tale of how he became incarcerated. Through flashbacks and his lists of identifying qualities, Robbie tells his story of how he became a murderer.

Kim Coyle
Nashville, TN

The Coven's Daughter

Witchcraft/Historical Fiction

As a bastard child living in the late 1500s, Cecily Perryn is proud of her job as poultry girl at the grand Montacute House. But when her sister and father go missing, and Cess knows she must save William to prove her innocence before the townspeople begin a witch hunt. Through this adventure, Cess becomes entangled in an intriguing plot to murder Queen Elizabeth and restore Catholicism to power in England. But more important, Cess discovers the origins of her own family's power.

Christine Chau
Staten Island, NY

The Jaguar Stones, Book Two: The End of the World Club

Adventure/Fiction

As the second book of The Jaguar Stones adventure trilogy, The End of the World Club brings Max Murphy and his Mayan friend Lola back to save the world from the villainous Lords of Death. Racing against time, Max and Lola must travel to the heart of Spain to retrieve the legendary Jaguar Stone. Will Max succeed or will he and his parents be condemned to live out the rest of their lives imprisoned in Xibalba? This fast-paced action-adventure novel surpasses its prequel, and is filled with Mayan folklore and entertaining humor that will keep readers on the edge of their seats. The End of the World Club is an easily recommended novel to pique the interests of adolescent readers in history and mythology.

Christine Chau
Staten Island, NY
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Title</th>
<th>Author</th>
<th>Genre</th>
<th>Publisher</th>
<th>Year</th>
<th>Pages</th>
<th>Price</th>
<th>ISBN</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>The Lost Saint</td>
<td>Bree Despain</td>
<td>Romance/Religion/Fiction</td>
<td>Egmont</td>
<td>2011</td>
<td>404</td>
<td>$17.99</td>
<td>978-1-60684-058-0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Year We Were Famous</td>
<td>Carole Estby Dagg</td>
<td>Historical Fiction/Family</td>
<td>Clarion Books</td>
<td>2011</td>
<td>250</td>
<td>$16.99</td>
<td>978-0-618-99983-5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Sentinels</td>
<td>R. A. &amp; Geno Salvatore</td>
<td>Fantasy</td>
<td>Wizards of the Coast LLC</td>
<td>2010</td>
<td>297</td>
<td>$17.95</td>
<td>978-0-7869-5505-3</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Despain’s gripping sequel to The Dark Divine continues the story of high school heroine Grace Divine and her struggle against the curse of the wolf. Grace’s boyfriend Daniel, an ex-werewolf, is training her to control the superhuman powers her curse endows. Meanwhile, Grace’s werewolf brother Jude has gone missing, and demons are terrorizing the city. When Grace turns her back on her boyfriend and her family to be trained instead by Nathan Talbot, she learns to harness her powers, but at the expense of her own spiritual balance.

With ancient demonic wars and high school drama inseparable, The Lost Saint combines intricate mythology and dark mystery to create a thrilling novel that explores human determination and true love’s redemptive power, all while whetting the appetite for a sequel.

Jonathan Tomick
Nashville, TN

In this historical fiction, Carole Estby Dagg imagines the 1896 cross-country trek of her great-aunt and great-great-grandmother, Clara and Helga Estby, from Mica Creek, Washington, to New York City in an attempt to raise money to save their family farm. Shy, 17-year-old Clara and her bold, suffragette mother leave behind father Ole, seven younger siblings, and Clara’s presumptive fiancé. They face hazardous weather, dangerous travel conditions, Clara’s indecision about her future, and the truth about Helga’s past, all while trying to meet their seven-month deadline.

The Year We Were Famous weaves together facts and artifacts from Clara and Helga’s actual 4,600 mile trek with imagined conversations, journal entries, and characters met along the way. The result is a compelling story about what is possible for girls and women, and one historical journey that helped make it so.

Elizabeth Self
Nashville, TN

Ty Hollett
Nashville, TN

Maimun is a teenage orphan who has already seen more than his fair share of adventures. He is bound to a magical artifact of the goddess of good fortune, Tymora; yet somehow, this good luck charm seems to attract nothing but trouble. In this book, the third of a trilogy, Maimun sets out to destroy the Stone of Tymora with the help of his friend, the young pirate Joen. Maimun soon discovers that things—and people—are rarely as they first appear.

The story is set in the world of the Forgotten Realms, a fully developed and richly layered fantasy universe. In this book, Maimun travels through locations such as Waterdeep, Longsaddle, and Silverymoon in search of answers to the many riddles he faces in his quest. He also encounters his occasional rescuer and mentor, the famous elf Drizzt, who is a beloved character in the Forgotten Realms universe.

Simon Gooch
Fort Worth, TX
Things I Know About Love

by Kate le Vann

Romance/Realistic Fiction/Illness

Livia Stowe is a 17-year-old Brit off to America for a summer holiday. She keeps a blog about the experience, but it has a purpose beyond entertainment. The story doesn’t dwell on Livia’s cancer, so it’s suited for readers looking for a lighter read. It’s a novel that will make readers smile, laugh, and cry along with the characters from start to finish.

Kelly Gotkin

Nashville, TN

Wither

by Lauren DeStefano

Marriage/Science/Dystopia/Sex/Relationships

Scientists, searching for a way to make people disease-free and almost immortal, tampered with humanity’s DNA. The first group of test subjects are women who have been raised to docile submissiveness. The second group, named the DAIRY, is meant to challenge the first group in order to determine whether an escape is possible. The novel starts in the first group and moves to the second group of test subjects. Throughout the novel, the reader is introduced to the group’s resident doctor, Rhine. By the end of the novel, Rhine asserts the value of her life, in spite of its inevitable brevity.

DeStefano’s dystopia is full of rich, sensory surprises—each scene captures the reader’s imagination. The novel is a page-turner, and the reader is left wanting more.

Rachel Wheeler

Northfield, MN

Words in the Dust

by Trent Reedy

Afghanistan/War/Deformity/Literacy

Zulaikha, 13, is born with a cleft lip and is no beauty. She is teased constantly because of her deformity. Even though her beautiful older sister’s marriage to a careless olderman leads to unnecessary tragedy, Zulaikha remains strong and determined to earn a better life for herself. The poetic language and details about Afghan customs provide a glimpse into a world where much is changing while much stays the same. Back matter includes a glossary, an author’s note, and suggested reading lists, offering more for interested readers.

Barbara A. Ward

Pullman, WA

Publishers who wish to submit a book for possible review should send a copy of the book to:

Melanie Hundley

1021 Delmas Ave.

Nashville, TN 37216-3630

To submit a review for possible publication or to become a reviewer, contact Melanie Hundley at melanie.hundley@Vanderbilt.edu.

Rachel Wheeler

Northfield, MN

Things I Know About Love

by Kate le Vann

Romance/Realistic Fiction/Illness

Livia Stowe is a 17-year-old Brit off to America for a summer holiday. She keeps a blog about the experience, but it has a purpose beyond entertainment. The story doesn’t dwell on Livia’s cancer, so it’s suited for readers looking for a lighter read. It’s a novel that will make readers smile, laugh, and cry along with the characters from start to finish.

Kelly Gotkin

Nashville, TN

Wither

by Lauren DeStefano

Marriage/Science/Dystopia/Sex/Relationships

Scientists, searching for a way to make people disease-free and almost immortal, tampered with humanity’s DNA. The first group of test subjects are women who have been raised to docile submissiveness. The second group, named the DAIRY, is meant to challenge the first group in order to determine whether an escape is possible. By rejecting her imprisonment, Rhine asserts the value of her life, in spite of its inevitable brevity.

DeStefano’s dystopia is full of rich, sensory surprises—each scene captures the reader’s imagination. The novel is a page-turner, and the reader is left wanting more.

Rachel Wheeler

Northfield, MN

Words in the Dust

by Trent Reedy

Afghanistan/War/Deformity/Literacy

Zulaikha, 13, is no beauty, and she is teased constantly because of her deformity. Even though her beautiful older sister’s marriage to a careless olderman leads to unnecessary tragedy, Zulaikha remains strong and determined to earn a better life for herself. The poetic language and details about Afghan customs provide a glimpse into a world where much is changing while much stays the same. Back matter includes a glossary, an author’s note, and suggested reading lists, offering more for interested readers.

Barbara A. Ward

Pullman, WA

Publishers who wish to submit a book for possible review should send a copy of the book to:

Melanie Hundley

1021 Delmas Ave.

Nashville, TN 37216-3630

To submit a review for possible publication or to become a reviewer, contact Melanie Hundley at melanie.hundley@Vanderbilt.edu.