

VITA

Radhika Rajgopal is the daughter of Rema and P.M. Rajgopal. She was born in Calicut, India and brought up in Calcutta, India. She received her Bachelor of Science in Life Sciences and Biochemistry, in 1993, from St. Xaviers College, Bombay. She then graduated from Nirmala Niketan, Bombay University in April 1995, with a Masters degree in Foods and Nutrition. In August 1995, she joined Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University to pursue a doctoral degree in International Nutrition. Currently she is completing her research in the cost-benefit analysis of the Virginia Expanded Food and Nutrition Education Program (EFNEP).