Tickets for the first Times-Dispatch Invitational Basketball Tournament go on sale tomorrow at the four competing schools and at the Richmond Coliseum, site of the event Dec. 29-30.

In the first round, Atlantic Coast Conference tournament champion Virginia will meet Virginia Commonwealth University and Virginia Tech, a 1976 NCAA tournament team, will play the University of Richmond. The first-night winners will play for the championship the next evening at 9 o’clock.

Tournament tickets books are $16 and can be obtained through each school’s season-ticket plan. The four schools and the Coliseum ticket office will have approximately 2,100 tickets each, and all tickets will be sold on a first-come, first-served basis.

No single-session tickets will be sold. Todd Turner, ticket manager for the University of Virginia, is tournament director.