Wednesday Night

Tech Clobbers Texas Wesleyan

By DAVID J. ROBERT
Sports Writer

When a Tech team comes out of the dressing room prior to the play and nearly every basketball player yawns except
the trainer and the head coach,
one tends to wonder if the team
is both mentally and physically ready to play the encounter.

In fact, it could be said that the Hokies were suffering from a sleeping disease which helped to keep Texas Wesleyan in the contest for a half.

The Hokies never did get untracked in the first half although they led by as many as nine points twice. Tech simply could not penetrate TWC's zone and the stubborn Rams, who are a NAIA team, managed to stay in the contest for one half.

But once Coach Charlie Moir read the riot act to his team at intermission a noticeable turnover in the second half began to work against the Hokies.

This was part of the Hokies'
problem in the first half not
hitting the shot, but in the second half Tech increased to
hit those long shots when they
(TWC) packed their zone.

"I thought our guards played real well in the second half and
hit those long shots when they
(TWC) packed their zone,"
Coach Moir remarked.

"When we went into the locker room you could have dropped a pin on the floor and heard it. They (Tech's second unit), knew I was upset with them, but I told our kids to come and play 100 percent in both practice and during the game or they would not play in the fourth hour game and get bench.

"But that's part of the Hokies'
problem in the first half not
hitting the shot, but in the
second half Tech increased to
hit those long shots when they
(TWC) packed their zone."

That was part of the Hokies' problem in the first half not hitting the shot, but in the second half Tech increased to hit those long shots when they (TWC) packed their zone.

"I thought our guards played real well in the second half and hit those long shots when they (TWC) packed their zone," coach Moir remarked.

"When we went into the locker room you could have dropped a pin on the floor and heard it. They (Tech's second unit), knew I was upset with them, but I told our kids to come and play 100 percent in both practice and during the game or they would not play in the fourth hour game and get bench.

"But that's part of the Hokies' problem in the first half not hitting the shot, but in the second half Tech increased to hit those long shots when they (TWC) packed their zone."

"I thought our guards played real well in the second half and hit those long shots when they (TWC) packed their zone," coach Moir remarked.

"When we went into the locker room you could have dropped a pin on the floor and heard it. They (Tech's second unit), knew I was upset with them, but I told our kids to come and play 100 percent in both practice and during the game or they would not play in the fourth hour game and get bench.

"But that's part of the Hokies' problem in the first half not hitting the shot, but in the second half Tech increased to hit those long shots when they (TWC) packed their zone."

"I thought our guards played real well in the second half and hit those long shots when they (TWC) packed their zone," coach Moir remarked.

"When we went into the locker room you could have dropped a pin on the floor and heard it. They (Tech's second unit), knew I was upset with them, but I told our kids to come and play 100 percent in both practice and during the game or they would not play in the fourth hour game and get bench.

"But that's part of the Hokies' problem in the first half not hitting the shot, but in the second half Tech increased to hit those long shots when they (TWC) packed their zone."

"I thought our guards played real well in the second half and hit those long shots when they (TWC) packed their zone," coach Moir remarked.

"When we went into the locker room you could have dropped a pin on the floor and heard it. They (Tech's second unit), knew I was upset with them, but I told our kids to come and play 100 percent in both practice and during the game or they would not play in the fourth hour game and get bench.

"But that's part of the Hokies' problem in the first half not hitting the shot, but in the second half Tech increased to hit those long shots when they (TWC) packed their zone."

"I thought our guards played real well in the second half and hit those long shots when they (TWC) packed their zone," coach Moir remarked.

"When we went into the locker room you could have dropped a pin on the floor and heard it. They (Tech's second unit), knew I was upset with them, but I told our kids to come and play 100 percent in both practice and during the game or they would not play in the fourth hour game and get bench.

"But that's part of the Hokies' problem in the first half not hitting the shot, but in the second half Tech increased to hit those long shots when they (TWC) packed their zone."

"I thought our guards played real well in the second half and hit those long shots when they (TWC) packed their zone," coach Moir remarked.