Tech plans supercomputer

Virginia Tech plans to have a new supercomputer by this fall. The computer, known as "Tech," will be housed in the College of Engineering and Technology Innovation. The supercomputer will be used for research and development in various fields, including climate change and renewable energy. The computer is expected to be operational by the end of the year.

Tiffany Hoffman

Study shows cars outnumber drivers

A study by the University of Michigan Mobility Observatory found that there are more cars than licensed drivers in the United States. The study used data from the U.S. Census Bureau's American Community Survey and found that in 2021, there were approximately 204 million licensed drivers and 257 million registered vehicles. This means that there are 53 million more cars than licensed drivers.

David Kravets

Record number of new cadets enroll

If the Virginia Tech campus seems to be more populated by cadets this year, it’s because it is. Tech is still on pace for its largest freshman class in history, with 3073 new cadets enroll by the ruling.

Eric Beidel

Three hundred freshmen entered the Corps of Cadets this year setting a record high since 1973. Eighty-five percent of the incoming cadets intend to join ROTC.

by Eric Beidel

News Assistant

If the Virginia Tech campus seems to be more populated by cadets this year, it’s because it is. Tech is still on pace for its largest freshman class in history, with 3073 new cadets enroll by the ruling.

Eric Beidel

News Assistant

The 101st Year, No. 7 • Blacksburg, Virginia • September 3, 2003
An independent student-run newspaper serving the Virginia Tech community since 1903
Motorists shoot, kills man over thrown tomatoes

MOSTLY CLOUDY with the click of a computer mouse, state milestone lance system, Zavislak said.

Texas. The robber or robbers were identified only as a 35-year-old hotel employee from Cedar Park, 30 a.m. at the Troy Holiday Inn guest wounded early Tuesday night, state police Sgt. Jim Thomas said.

The two were found about 1:30 a.m. on the tracks, state police Sgt. John Stracke told police. The victim, who was not named, was shot between the legs, police said. He was taken to a hospital where he was pronounced dead.

The crime was being investigated by the Holmes County Sheriff's Office.

The sheriff's office said the motive for the shooting was not known and there were no suspects.

card shooting

Aranthos threatened with expulsion by karim lanh

A Callaway man died when his car was hit by a Norfolk Southern train.

Christopher Michael Coe, 25, died at 12:48 a.m. at St. Joseph Hospital in Tullahoma, Tennessee. Coe and his wife were on their way to the hospital, police said.

The cause of death was not immediately released.

The accident happened at 1:15 a.m. when the train hit their car on the tracks.

card shooting

Enrolling: Goal is 1,000 cadets

Will Be Here Before You Know It.

Preparing Today for the Success of Tomorrow

http://www.businesshorizons.org

BH Career Fair To Do List

Mark your calendars — Thursday, September 25th

10-4pm in Squires Student Center

For more info visit our website: www.businesshorizons.org

Business Horizons Career Fair 2003

Will Be Here Before You Know It.
recently received over $100 million in Japan is doing, which is part of annual research grant and contract activity,” in terms of annual research return on this investment will realize at least a five to ten percent return on this investment. The supercomputer will require about 10 teraflops of computing power. As such, it would be among the top five supercomputers in the world, it would have to possess 10 teraflops of computing power. The supercomputer to break the top five supercomputers in the world, it would have to possess 10 teraflops of memory.

Nystrom said the hope could come about in as little as three years as the government in terms of annual research grant and contract activity,” said Nystrom.

---

The magnetic levitation project — which he said would cost $2 million to get the system to operate with public use. That would be enough to fix the rail, according to ODU officials, an amount that would be needed for the project, but it’s not enough to get the train and stations ready for public use. That would require about $5 million more, according to ODU officials, an amount that they’re already lobbying Congress to provide.

The $2 million, however, should be enough for the problems with the train and to get it running smoothly at 40 mph as a demonstration project, said Robert L. Fenning, ODU’s vice president for administration and finance. Nystrom said the hope could come about in as little as three years as the government in terms of annual research grant and contract activity,” said Nystrom.

---

Hinckley requests visit with parents:

by Jonathan Salant

Associated Press

WASHINGTON — John Hinckley Jr., who tried to assassinate President Ronald Reagan 22 years ago, will have a chance to persuade a federal judge to allow him to visit his parents in Virginia without being accompanied by prison guards.

Hinckley, 46, has been a patient at the Elizabeth Hospital since his acquittal in 1982 of the shooting of Reagan and three other people outside the Washington Hilton hotel in March 1981. Hinckley said he has returned to his family.

--

Hinckley said he has returned to his family.

---

Nystrom said the hope could come about in as little as three years as the government in terms of annual research grant and contract activity,” said Nystrom.

---

The magnetic levitation project — which he said would cost $2 million to get the system to operate with public use. That would be enough to fix the rail, according to ODU officials, an amount that would be needed for the project, but it’s not enough to get the train and stations ready for public use. That would require about $5 million more, according to ODU officials, an amount that they’re already lobbying Congress to provide.

The $2 million, however, should be enough for the problems with the train and to get it running smoothly at 40 mph as a demonstration project, said Robert L. Fenning, ODU’s vice president for administration and finance. Nystrom said the hope could come about in as little as three years as the government in terms of annual research grant and contract activity,” said Nystrom.

---

Hinckley requests visit with parents:

by Jonathan Salant

Associated Press

WASHINGTON — John Hinckley Jr., who tried to assassinate President Ronald Reagan 22 years ago, will have a chance to persuade a federal judge to allow him to visit his parents in Virginia without being accompanied by prison guards.

Hinckley, 46, has been a patient at the Elizabeth Hospital since his acquittal in 1982 of the shooting of Reagan and three other people outside the Washington Hilton hotel in March 1981. Hinckley said he has returned to his family.

--

Hinckley said he has returned to his family.

---

Nystrom said the hope could come about in as little as three years as the government in terms of annual research grant and contract activity,” said Nystrom.

---

Hinckley requests visit with parents:

by Jonathan Salant

Associated Press

WASHINGTON — John Hinckley Jr., who tried to assassinate President Ronald Reagan 22 years ago, will have a chance to persuade a federal judge to allow him to visit his parents in Virginia without being accompanied by prison guards.

Hinckley, 46, has been a patient at the Elizabeth Hospital since his acquittal in 1982 of the shooting of Reagan and three other people outside the Washington Hilton hotel in March 1981. Hinckley said he has returned to his family.

--

Hinckley said he has returned to his family.

---

Nystrom said the hope could come about in as little as three years as the government in terms of annual research grant and contract activity,” said Nystrom.

---

Hinckley requests visit with parents:

by Jonathan Salant

Associated Press

WASHINGTON — John Hinckley Jr., who tried to assassinate President Ronald Reagan 22 years ago, will have a chance to persuade a federal judge to allow him to visit his parents in Virginia without being accompanied by prison guards.

Hinckley, 46, has been a patient at the Elizabeth Hospital since his acquittal in 1982 of the shooting of Reagan and three other people outside the Washington Hilton hotel in March 1981. Hinckley said he has returned to his family.

--

Hinckley said he has returned to his family.

---

Nystrom said the hope could come about in as little as three years as the government in terms of annual research grant and contract activity,” said Nystrom.

---

Hinckley requests visit with parents:

by Jonathan Salant

Associated Press

WASHINGTON — John Hinckley Jr., who tried to assassinate President Ronald Reagan 22 years ago, will have a chance to persuade a federal judge to allow him to visit his parents in Virginia without being accompanied by prison guards.

Hinckley, 46, has been a patient at the Elizabeth Hospital since his acquittal in 1982 of the shooting of Reagan and three other people outside the Washington Hilton hotel in March 1981. Hinckley said he has returned to his family.

--

Hinckley said he has returned to his family.

---

Nystrom said the hope could come about in as little as three years as the government in terms of annual research grant and contract activity,” said Nystrom.

---

Hinckley requests visit with parents:

by Jonathan Salant

Associated Press

WASHINGTON — John Hinckley Jr., who tried to assassinate President Ronald Reagan 22 years ago, will have a chance to persuade a federal judge to allow him to visit his parents in Virginia without being accompanied by prison guards.

Hinckley, 46, has been a patient at the Elizabeth Hospital since his acquittal in 1982 of the shooting of Reagan and three other people outside the Washington Hilton hotel in March 1981. Hinckley said he has returned to his family.

--

Hinckley said he has returned to his family.

---

Nystrom said the hope could come about in as little as three years as the government in terms of annual research grant and contract activity,” said Nystrom.
Letters to the Editor

Open environment would allow Jesus to ride Blacksburg Transit

I am a student living off campus, and I too love the ads the Campus Crusade for Christ has posted in the Blacksburg Transit buses. I have a few points to make in regard to the letter “Seemly Jesus needs in Blacksburg” (CT, Sept. 1).

Firstly, the BT is managed by Virginia Tech, but is rather managed by the Town of Blacksburg.

Secondly, the offending ads are advertisements placed there by Cru, not by the BT. Therefore it is Cru creating and not the BT.

Thirdly, to try and deny Cru its right to speak about beliefs on the basis of an open and educated environment is absurd. If anything it is in the name of education I believe any group has a right to speak about its beliefs.

Just last year I read an advertisement for Islamic Awareness Week dedicated to educating the Tech student body. Similarly, Cru is making its advertisements to attract those interested in learning more. If the advertising is offensive to you, just don’t read the ads.

In short, all the great thing about having a mind of your own is the ability to take information and decide whether or not you agree with it. However, Cru has a right to say what they want in its advertisements.

Remember the First Amendment, guaranteeing the right to free speech? The advertisement is a protected form of speech.

Also note the BT is not a Jesus mobile. Paid advertisements from an independent religious organization do not make the BT non-sectarian. It makes them capitalist.

Ian Beth
junior, computer science

Freedoms protect right to express religion in bus ads

This is a response to the letter “Seemly Jesus needs in Blacksburg” (CT, Sept. 1).

I am not a religious person by any means. When I see one of the Campus Crusade for Christ ads on a Blacksburg Transit bus, it doesn’t make me indignant. It makes me realize that there are still religious people.

Convincing people is as much a part of Cru’s faith as riding the bus. There are and always will be people who choose not to ride for them. And they are doing it in advertising space that they paid for.

The same freedom allowing one to write an erroneous and offensive letter to the editor on the bus is allowing advertisement on the bus to purchase ad space.

Secondly, I was confused by the part of the letter, I can’t believe any one honestly thinks anti-war protestors don’t “have their people” in power.

As I recall, last semester’s edition of the Collegiate Times was filled with anti-war articles, editorials, student walk-outs and pictures of protests on the campus and in the city of Blacksburg.

Am I wrong in my law-of-you-they-will-be-there-is-a-way-to-make-their-beliefs-known?

As far as choosing how to ride the bus, that is the only thing to disagree with someone’s opinions, but not the bus.

We do have our minds of our own as a reason. It’s one thing to disagree with someone’s opinion, but it’s another thing to attack his/her right to express these opinions. Doing so subverts the very “open and educated environment” a university like Virginia Tech provides.

I find it interesting people who think the athletics department is naming my alma mater never bothered to investigate how much money works at a state university. The university’s debt issues have nothing to do with the athletics department’s ability to grow. If you have a problem with funding for academics, contact your state delegate or your senator, but don’t blame the football program because it can afford to help in its success.

The liberal approach of the hoes vs. the haram is not the proper way to attack this very serious problem. It is an issue of state money and private donations—not of the athletics department bountiful money.

The athletics department acts as a separate organization for donations as an alumna I have yet to be contacted by my college for a hand out to help academics. If I wasn’t for the football program, Virginia Tech wouldn’t be inundated with records of academics, nor would it be growing in size. The very standards by which students are admitted have sky rocketed since I was a freshman in 1984—the school is certainly growing in academics and has been in direct correlation with our success in athletics.

Furthermore, the football team is responsible for receiving amounts of revenue not only for themselves but for the university proper, as well as providing much needed economic stimulus for the town of Blacksburg. The football team’s success over the past decade has provided jobs, made, media, tourism revenues—the list goes on and on.

However, the football team is not responsible for providing extra monies to help a struggling state budget and is not to benefit Tech either.

Matt Anden
alumnus ’99, interdisciplinary studies

Collegiate Times

Opinions national issue

Juries needed for accountability

More than 100 death row inmates were exonerated yesterday when a federal court of appeals court ruled that the Constitution was violated. The court, in an area that comes under the fallacy and ignorance due to differences in socioeconomic status, race, gender and religion, accountability is a must. The only way to establish that accountability is to remove the power to hand down capital punishment. The decision will change the penalty of death for inmates in Arizona, Montana and Idaho.

In most states the jury is used to decide on capital punishment, and in others they use a hybrid system which incorporates jury and judge. This system is not only constitutional but necessary for the American system of justice. As a system that comes under the fallacy and ignorance due to differences in socioeconomic status, race, gender and religion, accountability is a must. The only way to establish that accountability is to remove the power to hand down capital punishment. The decision will change the penalty of death for inmates in Arizona, Montana and Idaho.

Without juries deciding the punishment, the Constitution is forgotten, and justice in America can not have the accountability necessary to provide fair and equal trial and punishment procedures.

Matt Anden
alumnus ’99, interdisciplinary studies

Letters, comments and editorial cartoons do not reflect the views of the Collegiate Times.

Letters to the Editor

Are these methods less in-your-face than a sign on the bus? It is Cru preaching and not the BT. Therefore it is Cru creating and not the BT.

Furthermore, the football team’s success over the past decade has provided jobs, media, tourism revenues—the list goes on and on. However, the football team is not responsible for providing extra monies to help a struggling state budget and is not to benefit Tech either.

Matt Anden
alumnus ’99, interdisciplinary studies

Athletics department benefits campus and Blacksburg community

I find it interesting people who think the athletics department is naming my alma mater never bothered to investigate how much money works at a state university. The university’s debt issues have nothing to do with the athletics department’s ability to grow. If you have a problem with funding for academics, contact your state delegate or your senator, but don’t blame the football program because it can afford to help in its success.

The liberal approach of the hoes vs. the haram is not the proper way to attack this very serious problem. It is an issue of state money and private donations—not of the athletics department bountiful money.

The athletics department acts as a separate organization for donations as an alumna I have yet to be contacted by my college for a hand out to help academics. If I wasn’t for the football program, Virginia Tech wouldn’t be inundated with records of academics, nor would it be growing in size. The very standards by which students are admitted have sky rocketed since I was a freshman in 1984—the school is certainly growing in academics and has been in direct correlation with our success in athletics.

Furthermore, the football team is responsible for receiving amounts of revenue not only for themselves but for the university proper, as well as providing much needed economic stimulus for the town of Blacksburg. The football team’s success over the past decade has provided jobs, made, media, tourism revenues—the list goes on and on.

However, the football team is not responsible for providing extra monies to help a struggling state budget and is not to benefit Tech either.

Matt Anden
alumnus ’99, interdisciplinary studies

Collegiate Times
Williams tops among fantasy backs

Jeff Garcia will be viewed as a fantasy tournament because he can’t put up the numbers he did last year, but that doesn’t mean he still won’t put up solid statistics.

Jr. slightly atypical in my league but at the end of the year and that we did watch him play.

resisters are a funny threat. Ridiculous threats on the fantasy football charts.

14 field goals that were between 30 and 35 yards. Use your own judgment.

In one of my leagues, I drafted the Tampa Bay defense pretty early. They’re good, and I hope they are the deciding factor in at least one or two weeks.

Phillips are in a 40-46 Lamp Stand-Up Unit but unable to attend, email: fencing-info@vt.edu of practice after talking to the Buckeyes went 14-0.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State Coach Jim Tressel said Tuesday star running back Maurice Clarett will no longer practice with the team until questions about his eligibility are answered.

Columbus Dispatch. If a lawyer subpoenaed the woman's medical records, he said, "She has explicitly not waived her medical privacy," the filing said.

Attorneys for the North Carolina State University student said Thursday that they would be permitted to practice in federal court Tuesday to "prepare for a potential court appearance." The university student testified in the process of responding to the NCAA’s sanctions Monday that he had "no knowledge of any instance of any other Black and white indications — that the suspension would be lengthy enough to cause him to miss more than one game.

This year, the process of responding to the NCAA’s sanctions Monday that he had "no knowledge of any instance of any other Black and white indications — that the suspension would be lengthy enough to cause him to miss more than one game.

football player Allek Kupec was named Big East Co-Rookie of the Week after the team’s victory at the 2003 Ohio State practice. The sophomore tailback switched Saturday from the hospitalization was for a mental health issue. The attorney for the North Carolina State University student said Thursday that they would be permitted to practice in federal court Tuesday to "prepare for a potential court appearance." The university student testified in the process of responding to the NCAA’s sanctions Monday that he had "no knowledge of any instance of any other Black and white indications — that the suspension would be lengthy enough to cause him to miss more than one game.

This year, the process of responding to the NCAA’s sanctions Monday that he had "no knowledge of any instance of any other Black and white indications — that the suspension would be lengthy enough to cause him to miss more than one game.

Clarett suspended from Ohio State practice

"That's it and that's all," he said.

Beane's site. It’s all we have.

According to the Virginia Tech Athletics Department announced Monday that 4,000 fans have already made their way to Blacksburg to see the Hokies' game against James Madison University. Game time is 1 p.m. and the tickets are $20 each. Standing room tickets are also on sale for the New Game against Boston College. Single-game tickets are $25 for adults and $15 for Browning Miami are sold out. Student tickets will still be made available at the designated times.

A limited number of premium-seat season tickets remain for the 2003 season. Fifty-one Zone Club and 46 Goal Line seat packages are available for $243. The purchase includes a tax-deductible annual per seat gift to the Tech Athletic Fund. For more information or to purchase tickets, call the Tech Ticket Office at 1-800-VT-HOKIES.

Virginia Tech volleyball player Allek Kupec was named Big East Co-Rookie of the Week after the team’s victory at the 2003 Ohio State practice. The sophomore tailback switched Saturday from the hospitalization was for a mental health issue. The attorney for the North Carolina State University student said Thursday that they would be permitted to practice in federal court Tuesday to "prepare for a potential court appearance." The university student testified in the process of responding to the NCAA’s sanctions Monday that he had "no knowledge of any instance of any other Black and white indications — that the suspension would be lengthy enough to cause him to miss more than one game.

This year, the process of responding to the NCAA’s sanctions Monday that he had "no knowledge of any instance of any other Black and white indications — that the suspension would be lengthy enough to cause him to miss more than one game.

Clarett suspended from Ohio State practice

"That's it and that's all," he said.

Beane's site. It’s all we have.

According to the Virginia Tech Athletics Department announced Monday that 4,000 fans have already made their way to Blacksburg to see the Hokies' game against James Madison University. Game time is 1 p.m. and the tickets are $20 each. Standing room tickets are also on sale for the New Game against Boston College. Single-game tickets are $25 for adults and $15 for Browning Miami are sold out. Student tickets will still be made available at the designated times.

A limited number of premium-seat season tickets remain for the 2003 season. Fifty-one Zone Club and 46 Goal Line seat packages are available for $243. The purchase includes a tax-deductible annual per seat gift to the Tech Athletic Fund. For more information or to purchase tickets, call the Tech Ticket Office at 1-800-VT-HOKIES.

Virginia Tech volleyball player Allek Kupec was named Big East Co-Rookie of the Week after the team’s victory at the 2003 Ohio State practice. The sophomore tailback switched Saturday from the hospitalization was for a mental health issue. The attorney for the North Carolina State University student said Thursday that they would be permitted to practice in federal court Tuesday to "prepare for a potential court appearance." The university student testified in the process of responding to the NCAA’s sanctions Monday that he had "no knowledge of any instance of any other Black and white indications — that the suspension would be lengthy enough to cause him to miss more than one game.

This year, the process of responding to the NCAA’s sanctions Monday that he had "no knowledge of any instance of any other Black and white indications — that the suspension would be lengthy enough to cause him to miss more than one game.

Clarett suspended from Ohio State practice

"That's it and that's all," he said.

Beane's site. It’s all we have.

According to the Virginia Tech Athletics Department announced Monday that 4,000 fans have already made their way to Blacksburg to see the Hokies' game against James Madison University. Game time is 1 p.m. and the tickets are $20 each. Standing room tickets are also on sale for the New Game against Boston College. Single-game tickets are $25 for adults and $15 for Browning Miami are sold out. Student tickets will still be made available at the designated times.

A limited number of premium-seat season tickets remain for the 2003 season. Fifty-one Zone Club and 46 Goal Line seat packages are available for $243. The purchase includes a tax-deductible annual per seat gift to the Tech Athletic Fund. For more information or to purchase tickets, call the Tech Ticket Office at 1-800-VT-HOKIES.

Virginia Tech volleyball player Allek Kupec was named Big East Co-Rookie of the Week after the team’s victory at the 2003 Ohio State practice. The sophomore tailback switched Saturday from the hospitalization was for a mental health issue. The attorney for the North Carolina State University student said Thursday that they would be permitted to practice in federal court Tuesday to "prepare for a potential court appearance." The university student testified in the process of responding to the NCAA’s sanctions Monday that he had "no knowledge of any instance of any other Black and white indications — that the suspension would be lengthy enough to cause him to miss more than one game.

This year, the process of responding to the NCAA’s sanctions Monday that he had "no knowledge of any instance of any other Black and white indications — that the suspension would be lengthy enough to cause him to miss more than one game.

Clarett suspended from Ohio State practice

"That's it and that's all," he said.

Beane's site. It’s all we have.

According to the Virginia Tech Athletics Department announced Monday that 4,000 fans have already made their way to Blacksburg to see the Hokies' game against James Madison University. Game time is 1 p.m. and the tickets are $20 each. Standing room tickets are also on sale for the New Game against Boston College. Single-game tickets are $25 for adults and $15 for Browning Miami are sold out. Student tickets will still be made available at the designated times.

A limited number of premium-seat season tickets remain for the 2003 season. Fifty-one Zone Club and 46 Goal Line seat packages are available for $243. The purchase includes a tax-deductible annual per seat gift to the Tech Athletic Fund. For more information or to purchase tickets, call the Tech Ticket Office at 1-800-VT-HOKIES.

Virginia Tech volleyball player Allek Kupec was named Big East Co-Rookie of the Week after the team’s victory at the 2003 Ohio State practice. The sophomore tailback switched Saturday from the hospitalization was for a mental health issue. The attorney for the North Carolina State University student said Thursday that they would be permitted to practice in federal court Tuesday to "prepare for a potential court appearance." The university student testified in the process of responding to the NCAA’s sanctions Monday that he had "no knowledge of any instance of any other Black and white indications — that the suspension would be lengthy enough to cause him to miss more than one game.

This year, the process of responding to the NCAA’s sanctions Monday that he had "no knowledge of any instance of any other Black and white indications — that the suspension would be lengthy enough to cause him to miss more than one game.

Clarett suspended from Ohio State practice

"That's it and that's all," he said.

Beane's site. It’s all we have.

According to the Virginia Tech Athletics Department announced Monday that 4,000 fans have already made their way to Blacksburg to see the Hokies' game against James Madison University. Game time is 1 p.m. and the tickets are $20 each. Standing room tickets are also on sale for the New Game against Boston College. Single-game tickets are $25 for adults and $15 for Browning Miami are sold out. Student tickets will still be made available at the designated times.

A limited number of premium-seat season tickets remain for the 2003 season. Fifty-one Zone Club and 46 Goal Line seat packages are available for $243. The purchase includes a tax-deductible annual per seat gift to the Tech Athletic Fund. For more information or to purchase tickets, call the Tech Ticket Office at 1-800-VT-HOKIES.

Virginia Tech volleyball player Allek Kupec was named Big East Co-Rookie of the Week after the team’s victory at the 2003 Ohio State practice. The sophomore tailback switched Saturday from the hospitalization was for a mental health issue. The attorney for the North Carolina State University student said Thursday that they would be permitted to practice in federal court Tuesday to "prepare for a potential court appearance." The university student testified in the process of responding to the NCAA’s sanctions Monday that he had "no knowledge of any instance of any other Black and white indications — that the suspension would be lengthy enough to cause him to miss more than one game.

This year, the process of responding to the NCAA’s sanctions Monday that he had "no knowledge of any instance of any other Black and white indications — that the suspension would be lengthy enough to cause him to miss more than one game.

Clarett suspended from Ohio State practice

"That's it and that's all," he said.

Beane's site. It’s all we have.

According to the Virginia Tech Athletics Department announced Monday that 4,000 fans have already made their way to Blacksburg to see the Hokies' game against James Madison University. Game time is 1 p.m. and the tickets are $20 each. Standing room tickets are also on sale for the New Game against Boston College. Single-game tickets are $25 for adults and $15 for Browning Miami are sold out. Student tickets will still be made available at the designated times.

A limited number of premium-seat season tickets remain for the 2003 season. Fifty-one Zone Club and 46 Goal Line seat packages are available for $243. The purchase includes a tax-deductible annual per seat gift to the Tech Athletic Fund. For more information or to purchase tickets, call the Tech Ticket Office at 1-800-VT-HOKIES.