

Volume 46

Number 2

Winter 2019

How We Play the Game: YA Literature and Sport

|                                     |   |    |
|-------------------------------------|---|----|
| Wendy Glenn                  | From the Editors   | 3  |
| Ricki Ginsberg               |   |    |
| Danielle King-Watkins        | Call for Manuscripts                                     | 5  |
| Meg Medina                   | Opening Hearts, Changing Minds:                          | 8  |
|                                     | YA Lit and Defending the Immigrant Voice                        |    |
|                                     | Speech Delivered at the 2017 ALAN Workshop, St. Louis, Missouri |    |
| Diana Harmon Asher           | Sport and Identity:                                      | 11 |
| Shannon Gibney               | A Collaborative Conversation                                    |    |
| Miranda Kenneally            |   |    |
| Kristin Bartley Lenz         |   |    |
| Randy Ribay                  |   |    |
| Alan Brown, Wendell Dunn     | Writing the Unwritten Rules of High School Sports        |    |
| Corrie A. Knapp              | with Young Adult Literature                              | 18 |
| Sunday Okeke                 |   |    |
| Elijah Shalaway              |   |    |
| Luke Rodesiler               | “I thought coaches were supposed to set an example”:     | 27 |
| Mark A. Lewis                | Coaches’ Divergent Roles in Young Adult Literature              |    |
| David Premont                | Young Adult Sports Literature and Identity Construction  |    |
| Johnny Allred, Lauren Dalton | in the ELA Classroom                                     | 40 |
| Sarah J. Donovan             | BOOK IN REVIEW: A TEACHING GUIDE:                        |    |
|                                     | From Rec Leagues to Elite Clubs:                         | 52 |
|                                     | How the Game Changes  |    |
| James E. Fredricksen         | RIGHT TO READ:   |    |
| Jason M. Thornberry          | Censored Young Adult Sports Novels:                      | 58 |
| with Kristine Gritter        | Entry Points for Understanding Issues of Identities and Equity  |    |
| James Joshua Coleman         | LAYERED LITERACIES:                                      |    |
| with Leigh A. Hall           | What Story, What Identity, Wattpad?:                     | 65 |
|                                     | Teaching Youth to Restory YA Literature                         |    |
| Jurana Aziz                  | BENDING AND BRIDGING BORDERS:                            |    |
| Phillip Wilder               | YAL as a Tool for Healing and Critical Consciousness:    | 71 |
| with Raúl Alberto Mora       | An International Perspective                                    |    |
| Carl Deuker                  | Sport and Society:                                       | 79 |
| Kelly Loy Gilbert            | A Collaborative Conversation                                    |    |
| Claudia Meléndez Salinas     |   |    |